1. With regard to the language, this opinion has been established on the basis of the international application in the language in which it was filed, unless otherwise indicated under this item.

☐ This opinion has been established on the basis of a translation from the original language into the following language _____. which is the language of a translation furnished for the purposes of international search (under Rules 12.3 and 23.1(b)).

2. With regard to any nucleotide and/or amino acid sequence disclosed in the international application and necessary to the claimed invention, this opinion has been established on the basis of:

a. type of material

☐ a sequence listing

☐ table(s) related to the sequence listing

b. format of material

☐ in written format

☐ in computer readable form

c. time of filing/furnishing

☐ contained in international application as filed.

☐ filed together with the international application in computer readable form.

☐ furnished subsequently to this Authority for the purposes of search.

3. ☐ In addition, in the case that more than one version or copy of a sequence listing and/or table relating thereto has been filed or furnished, the required statements that the information in the subsequent or additional copies is identical to that in the application as filed or does not go beyond the application as filed, as appropriate, were furnished.

4. Additional comments:

WRITTEN OPINION OF THE
INTERNATIONAL SEARCHING AUTHORITY

International application No.
PCT/US04/24611

Box No. V Reasoned statement under Rule 43 bis.1(a)(i) with regard to novelty, inventive step or industrial applicability; citations and explanations supporting such statement

1. Statement

Novelty (N)	Claims NONE	YES
	Claims 1-7	NO
Inventive step (IS)	Claims NONE	YES
	Claims 1-7	NO
Industrial applicability (IA)	Claims 1-7	YES
	Claims NONE	NO

2. Citations and explanations:

Claims 1-7 lack novelty under PCT Article 33(2) as being anticipated by US 5,242,932 to Gandy et al (Gandy).

Gandy teaches a method of treating amyloidosis associated with Alzheimer's disease. Gandy teaches agents, which modulate or affect the intracellular trafficking and processing of proteins in the mammalian cell and suggest that these agents can be utilized to affect the trafficking and processing of amyloid precursor proteins (APP) and thus inhibiting the production of Alzheimer type and amyloidosis (col. 3 and col. 4). In particular, Gandy teaches chloroquine and its related derivatives such as primaquine. Gandy teaches that lysosomal acidification inhibitor, chloroquine, slows down the processing of APP to amyloid proteins (col. 6-8). Thus, the claimed method of identifying and the method of treating are inherent to the teachings of Gandy.

Claims 1-7 lack an inventive step under PCT Article 33(3) as being obvious over US 5,989,803 to Tabbas et al (Tabbas).

Tabbas teaches a method of treating a subject suffering from a condition associated with an extracellular zinc sphingomyelinase by administering an sphingomyelinase inhibitor. In the process of identifying the role of lysosome in the processing of sphingomyelinase-LDL (SM-LDL), Tabbas performed a set of experiments with 200micromolar chloroquine, an inhibitor is a known destabilizer of lysosome and the step of increasing the aberrant protein production is inherent to chloroquine. Tabbas also identifies that effect of chloroquine on the epidermal growth factor (EGF) observed that chloroquine blocked the degradation of EGF that occurs in lysosomes. Thus, Tabbas teaches chloroquine, a compound that destabilizes lysosomal protein degradation, which in turn increases the accumulation of proteins such as SM-LDL or epidermal growth factor and their association in disease processes, such as neurodegenerative diseases or multiple sclerosis. Thus, identifying the agents that inhibit the lysosomal degradation of proteins and further, employing such enzymes in treating diseases or disorders associated with these inhibitors does not involve an inventive step.

Claims 1-7 meet the criteria set out in PCT Article 33(4), and thus have industrial applicability because the subject matter claimed can be made or used in industry.
